

Latency is not the binding constraint, so the choice falls to accuracy

Hollow marker: cross-venue play recall. Filled marker: the same model once the false-play control is subtracted. Held-out venues contain no empty pitch, so recall alone is earned by answering “playing” more often - and the model with the best recall has the worst balanced score.

