

Would something trivial have done this? It depends entirely on the protocol

Yellow: the best model that ignores the image (majority class, a clock rule, mean intensity, a colour histogram). Blue: the best frozen backbone. Grey where the backbone fails to clear the floor.

